

CONTENTS

Translator's Note vii

Preface to the English-Language Edition (2012) ix

Preface (2009) xi

* CHAPTER ONE. The Origin of a Mythical Theme: The Prehistory of the Three Impostors (Up to the Thirteenth Century) 1

The First to Be Accused: Frederick II and Pierre des Vignes (1239) 2

The Precursors of Imposture: Zalmoxis and Numa Pompilius 9

Celsus: Moses the Impostor 12

Celsus and the Talmud: Jesus the Impostor 13

Mahomet the Impostor in Christian Literature (Ninth to Twelfth Centuries) 18

Politico-Religious Imposture in the Middle Ages 21

The Arabic Origins of the Theme of the Three Impostors (Tenth Century) 25

The First Mention in Christianity (Twelfth Century) 30

* CHAPTER TWO. The Hunt for the Author of a Mythical Treatise (Fourteenth to Sixteenth Centuries) 35

A Culture of Imposture 35

The Rumors of the Late Middle Ages 39

The Renaissance: A Receptive Context for the Idea of Imposture 43

Moses the Machiavellian 47

Appeals to the Holy Union of Religions 51

Italy and the Specter of the Three Impostors 52

The Obsession Spreads 57

Geneva, Birthplace of the Three Impostors? 59

Three Impostors or Three Prophets? (Guillaume Postel) 62

Who Actually Saw the Treatise? 65

- * CHAPTER THREE. The European Elites and Religious Imposture (Seventeenth Century) 71
 - On the Trail of De tribus around the Baltic Sea 71
 - Holland and England: Heterodox Contexts 78
 - The French Trail: Learned Libertines and Religious Imposture 88
- * CHAPTER FOUR. Debates on the Origin of Religions (Second Half of the Seventeenth Century) 95
 - Hobbes and Spinoza 95
 - Holland and the Birth of the Radical Enlightenment 106
 - Rumors of the De tribus in England 112
- * CHAPTER FIVE. From the De tribus to the Trois imposteurs: Discovery or Invention of the Treatise? (1680-1721) 123
 - Sources of the De tribus: Kiel, 1688 124
 - The Intervention of Leibniz and of Baron von Hohendorf 126
 - The De tribus: A German Affair 132
 - Preliminary Polemic: Does the Trois imposteurs Exist? (1715-1716) 137
 - The Reference Edition: The Hague, 1719 142
 - The Birth of L'Esprit de Spinoza and of the Trois imposteurs (1700-1721) 146
 - A Franco-Dutch Commercial Imposture? 151
 - Erroneous Attributions: Henri de Boulainvillier (1658-1722) and John Toland (1670-1722) 154
- * CHAPTER SIX. The Treatise of the Three Impostors: The Contents of a Blasphemy 163
 - The De tribus: A Slapdash Work? 164
 - The Atheism of the Traité 167
 - The End of Religions 171
 - The Soul and Demons: Subtle Chimeras 174
 - Moses the Impostor: Magic and Persecution 177
 - Jesus the Impostor: A Merchant of Absurd Dreams 180
 - Mahomet the Impostor: The Senses and the Sword 185
- * EPILOGUE: The Three Impostors in the Antireligious Literature of the Eighteenth Century 191

Appendixes 205 Notes 209 Glossary of Names 225 Index of Names 241