

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
Glossary and a Note on Transliteration	xiii

Introduction: From Disaffection to Political Opportunity and Activism Yaacov Ro'i	1
--	---

Part I. Overview

1 The Surfacing of the Jewish Movement Yaacov Ro'i	15
2 Strategy and Tactics Yaacov Ro'i	46
3 The Achievements of the Jewish Movement Yaacov Ro'i	96

Part II. Soviet Jewish Identity

4 The Impact of the Holocaust and the State of Israel on Soviet Jewish Identity Irena Cantorovich and Nati Cantorovich	119
---	-----

- 5 Born under the Same Star: Refuseniks, Dissidents, and Late Socialist Society 137
Juliane Fürst

Part III. The Political Ambience

- 6 Behind the Scenes: The Attitude of the Regime and Society toward Jewish Emigration 167
Edith Rogovin Frankel
- 7 Human Rights and National Rights: The Interaction
of the Jewish Movement with Other Dissident Groups 198
Yaacov Ro'i and Joshua Rubenstein

Part IV. Social Aspects

- 8 Voices from the Inside: Jewish Activists' Memoirs, 1967–1989 227
Stefani Hoffman
- 9 The Zionist Family 250
Theodore H. Friedgut

Part V. The Cultural and Spiritual Setting

- 10 Jewish Samizdat: Dissident Texts and the Dynamics of the Jewish Revival in the Soviet Union 273
Ann Komaromi
- 11 Judaism and the Jewish Movement 304
Simeon Charny
- 12 The Teaching and Study of Hebrew 334
Ari Volvovsky

Part VI. The World Beyond

- 13 How the Movement Was Funded 359
Michael Beizer

14	Friends Abroad: How the Western Campaign for Soviet Jews Influenced Activists in the Soviet Union Sarah Fainberg	392
	Epilogue: The United States in the Movement's Triumph George P. Shultz	419
	Contributors	429
	Subject Index	433
	Name Index	443

Acknowledgments

This volume is a product of the conference "The Jewish National Movement in the USSR: Awakening and Struggle, 1967-1991," at which seven of the essays papers included here were delivered. The conference was organized by the Leonard Neuman Research Center for Russian and East European Study and the Abraham Harkins Institute for Contemporary Jewish Studies at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. It was held in December 2001 at the Hebrew University and at the Bialik Institute in Moscow in 2002.

The editor is grateful to the Neuman Center for supporting both the translation of the articles from Russian and also the printing and ultimately to its academic director, Jonathan Detsky, for backing and advice.

Above all, the editor wishes to thank all those Soviet activists in the Jewish movement who willingly gave of their time to great sacrifices for this and in the other struggles in this volume. Without their generous contributions, this book would not have been possible. I am particularly grateful to those names I have placed at the beginning of each chapter, but they appear throughout in the footnotes and I am sure that they will accept this as a token of our gratitude.

Finally, I wish to express my gratitude to the Leonard Neuman Center for Jewish Studies and its director, Prof. David Ben-Zur, for his constant support and energetic efforts, as well as a great deal of valuable advice, to Prof. Yehuda Lurie for helping me with many of the interviews and to Prof. David Ben-Zur for supporting the volume.