

CONTENTS

Introduction	vii
--------------------	-----

PART ONE

GENERAL CONTEXT AND METHODOLOGY

Chapter One. The Pseudepigrapha in Christianity	3
Chapter Two. The Pseudepigrapha and Christianity, Revisited: Setting the Stage and Framing Some Central Questions	35
Chapter Three. Christian Transmission of Greek Jewish Scriptures: A Methodological Probe	61
Chapter Four. The Weighing of the Parts: Pivots and Pitfalls in the Study of Early Judaisms and their Early Christian Offspring	83
Chapter Five. Combined Review: The Old Testament Pseudepigrapha , Edited by James H. Charlesworth The Apocryphal Old Testament , Edited by H.F.D. Sparks	93

PART TWO

SELECTED SPECIFIC STUDIES

Chapter Six. Reassessing the “Recensional Problem” in Testament of Abraham	109
Chapter Seven. “Ezra” Materials in Judaism and Christianity	129
Chapter Eight. Towards Assessing the Latin Text of “5 Ezra”: The Christian Connection	149

Chapter Nine. Enoch and Written Authorities in Testaments of the 12 Patriarchs	163
Chapter Ten. The Dialogue of Timothy and Aquila and its Echoes of Judaism	173

PART THREE

SOME RELATED STUDIES

Chapter Eleven. Pliny on Essenes, Pliny on Jews	199
Chapter Twelve a-b. Philo on Seth, Philo on Enoch	209
Chapter Thirteen. Philo's Treatment of the Number Seven in On Creation	217
Chapter Fourteen. Philo and the Sabbath Crisis: Alexandrian Jewish Politics and the Dating of Philo's Works	239
Chapter Fifteen. Tiberius Julius Alexander and the Crisis in Alexandria according to Josephus	249
Review and Prospects	261
Comprehensive Index (with Bibliography, Abbreviations, URLs)	263