

See Under: Shoah

Imagining the Holocaust with David Grossman

Edited by

Marc De Kesel
Bettine Siertsema
Katarzyna Szurmiak

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

Contents

Contributors vii

Introduction 1

Marc De Kesel and Katarzyna Szurmiak

Summary of the Novel 5

Jan Ceuppens

PART 1

Language from Over There

1 Quod Vide, or the Displacement of Meaning in the Narrative
Construction of Love 11

Dany Nobus

2 Guerrilla War with Words—The Language of Resistance to the Shoah 26

Olga Kaczmarek

3 Grossman's White Room and Schulzian Empty Spaces 59

Katarzyna Szurmiak

PART 2

Dying Over There

4 The Laugh of a God Who Doesn't Exist 77

Marc De Kesel

5 The Perpetrator 98

Bettine Siertsema

PART 3

Memory and Identity6 Diasporic Remarks 115Dirk De Schutter7 The Holocaust's Muses—On Voices, Appropriation and Misappropriation in Grossman's Novel and W.G. Sebald's Prose Fiction 126Jan Ceuppens*

PART 4

See Under: Political8 The Novel Form and the Timing of the Nation 145Pieter Vermeulen9 Torag, Dolgan, Ning, Gyoya, Orga: Diaspora under the Sign of Salmon 162Ortwin de Graef10 On Some Adornean Catchwords 178Erik VogtBibliography 197*Index 205