

Table of contents

INTRODUCTION

- Language as Bridge and Border: Introduction 11
Sabine Sander

LANGUAGE AND IDENTITY

- A Natural yet Providential Tongue: Moses Mendelssohn on Hebrew as a Language of Action 31
Avi Lifschitz

- "I who know no Hebrew" – On the Relationship between Language, Identity, and Millenarian Expectations as Exemplified by Oliger Paulli 51
Jeannine Kunert

- Between Language, Philosophy, and Politics:
Salomon Munk, the "Wissenschaft des Judentums," and Oriental Studies in Paris 71
Chiara Adorisio

- A Prayer for Those Who Wield Power:
Hanoten teshu'a, Variations and Models of Jewish Identity in Nineteenth-Century Germany 83
Ramona Fändrich

LANGUAGE AS A BORDER AND A BRIDGE

- Language and Messianism in Judaism 107
Donatella Di Cesare

- Messianic Universalism: The Social Ethics and Dialogue Philosophy of Hermann Cohen, Martin Buber, and Karl Löwith 119
Sabine Sander

- "You write the language of abnormal gullibility":
Fritz Mauthner and Gustav Landauer in a Dispute over
Language and Politics 137
Gerald Hartung

Lost Spaces, Lost in Space: Spatial Memory and Language Attitudes of German-Jewish Immigrants to Palestine in the 1930s and 1940s	155
Arndt Kremer

IMAGE AND METAPHOR

Language and Instability: Scholem and Bialik on Language and Secularization	179
Ilit Ferber
"Sprachwurzellos". Reflections on Exile and Rootedness	195
Doerte Bischoff
Breakfast with Mr. and Mrs. Nobody, or the Artfulness of Language: A Psychoanalytic View of Language and Politics	215
Christine Kirchhoff
Marx, Nietzsche, Freud: Toward a History of "Theory" in Modern Jewish Thought	225
Philipp von Wussow
"Words Like Things": Siegfried Kracauer on Language and the Filmic and Photographic Image	241
Elke Dubbels
Linguistic Materiality: On Literary Forms of Memory after/of the Shoah	260
Leena Petersen

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

About the Authors	274
-------------------	-----