

Contents

Introduction: Why the Family? 1
Kateřina Čapková and Eliyana R. Adler

PART I

Family in Times of Genocide

- 1 The Romani Family before and during the Holocaust: How Much Do We Know?
An Ethnographic-Historical Study in the Belarusian-Lithuanian Border Region 17
Volha Bartash
- 2 Separation and Divorce in the Łódź and
Warsaw Ghettos 42
Michal Unger
- 3 Narrating Daily Family Life in Ghettos under
Nazi Occupation: Concepts and Dilemmas 62
Dalia Ofer
- 4 Uneasy Bonds: On Jews in Hiding and the Making of Surrogate Families 85
Natalia Aleksium

PART II

Intervention of Institutions

- 5 Siblings in the Holocaust and Its Aftermath in France and the United States: Rethinking the "Holocaust Orphan"? 103
Laura Hobson Faure

- 6 The Impact of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee's Aid Strategy on the Lives of Jewish Families in Hungary, 1945-1949 115
Viktória Bányai
- 7 "For Your Benefit": Military Marriage Policies, European Jewish War Brides, and the Centrality of Family, 1944-1950 128
Robin Judd

PART III

Rebuilding the Family after the Holocaust

- 8 "Return to Normality?": The Struggle of Sinti and Roma Survivors to Rebuild a Life in Postwar Germany 141
Anja Reuss
- 9 "I Could Never Forget What They'd Done to My Father": The Absence and Presence of Holocaust Memory in a Family's Letter Collection 156
Joachim Schlör
- 10 "Looking for a Nice Jewish Girl . . .": Personal Ads and the Creation of Jewish Families in Germany before and after the Holocaust 173
Sarah E. Wobick-Segev
- 11 The Postwar Migration of Romani Families from Slovakia to the Bohemian Lands: A Complex Legacy of War and Genocide in Czechoslovakia 190
Helena Sadílková

Acknowledgments 219

Notes 221

Notes on Contributors 267

Index 271